Today's dental professional needs to be informed and be pro-active. This requires the knowledge, the skill-set and the educational resources to effectively address this changing oral cancer profile in clinical practice. What are the implications to dentistry and how should our oral cancer screening be adjusted to compensate for this new profile? There are many questions arising due to this escalation.

The attendee will be able to:

- Understand critical statistical information regarding oral and oropharyngeal cancer that every dental professional needs to know.
- Recognize the critical components of a comprehensive extraoral and intraoral examination and the life-saving subtle symptoms.
- Identify the dental professional's role in early discovery of mucosal tissue changes and potentially life-saving outcome through screening methods.
- Perform a systematic extra oral and intraoral examination with attention to high risk anatomical areas related both to HPV and non-HPV oral and or pharyngeal cancer
- be Introduced to clinical resources that will aid in assessment, documentation and management pathways of an abnormal finding.
