

EMERGING ISSUES IN INFECTION PREVENTION & CONTROL IN DENTISTRY

3 CORE 1 CREDITS 5:00PM - 6:00PM REGISTRATION & DINNER | 6:00PM - 9:00PM LECTURE

Infection prevention and control (IPAC) practices in dental offices are an important cornerstone for patient and occupational health and safety. This session will outline the latest updates with respect to IPAC best practices as well as address emerging issues and expectations on the dental practitioner to ensure a safe environment and help reduce the risk of disease transmission in your office.

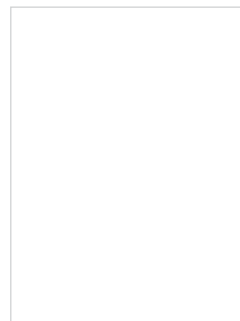

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

- Describe key Infection Prevention & Control practices expected in the dental office.
- Evaluate emerging infection control issues that dentists face in the current environment.
- Discuss the role of public health in responding to complaints and infection control issues reported to public health.
